

COMMUNICATION SPECIALISTS LET'S TALK!

A workshop with Kirri Dangerfield

Let's talk about more than just the weather. If you've worked with your team interpreter often or never before, you may be wondering how to start that conversation about working as a team.

This workshop will explore various supports available to us when working in teams, discover our expectations of each other on the assignment, and consider how to articulate our needs so that we can provide an accessible communicative interaction to the best of our abilities.

Don your comfy shoes, wear a splash of colour, and bring your willingness to engage in conversation for this highly interactive workshop.
