

Memorandum of Understanding

This agreement is made between the Australian Sign Language Interpreters' Association (ASLIA) and Deaf Australia.

It is understood that in the signing of the document by a representative of both associations, that the agreement extends to, is inclusive of and binding to all members of the national executive committees of both associations.

ASLIA and Deaf Australia agree to:

1. maintain the strictest confidence of any sensitive matters that may be shared between the parties;
2. each include the other organisation's email address on electronic newsletter and information distribution lists and agree that each may forward such information to their members and supporters;
3. work collaboratively on matters of common interest to the two associations, including but not limited to:
  - shared professional development and community development opportunities both in Australia and the Oceania region,
  - development of policy as it relates to the provision of interpreting services in Australia,
  - strengthening the public voice of the rights of Deaf people to have access to quality Auslan/English interpreters and interpreting;
4. grant reciprocal Corporate membership to each other.
5. meet a minimum of twice per year; and
6. review this Memorandum of Understanding annually.
