10.20-11.10	Session 1: TBC What can I ask for in my NDIS plan? Differences between core, capacity and capital budgets with examples. Share tips for how to explain and justify requests.	Session 1: Michelle Ashley & Ryan Gook Role space in NDIS settings The NDIS means deaf people can access interpreters for a wide range of settings, including social and family events. Some bookings may even take place in deaf people's homes. How do you maintain appropriate boundaries in these scenarios? We will explore the concept of role space.
11.10 – 12.00	Session 2: TBC Becoming NDIS registered Here we will talk about the deaf eco-system. The NDIS is not just about deaf people receiving packages, but gaining meaningful employment as an NDIS registered business.	Session 2: Alex Jones & finance expert To register or not register Interpreters often ask how to price their services if booked directly. There's a lot more to it than an hourly rate – have you considered insurances, superannuation, tax, cancellation policies or working conditions? What are some other things you need to consider before making the decision to register as a NDIS provider?
12.00 – 1.00	Lunch
1.00 – 2.00	Session 3: TBC Knowing your rights Deaf Victoria explain your rights according to the NDIS philosophy of choice and control. We will also differentiate what mainstream services are still obliged to provide in line with the DDA. This session will also cover off tips on how to engage with service providers - deaf or hearing – and how to give feedback if you are dissatisfied with the service.	Session 3: Alex Jones Interpreting the planning meeting. What is the goal of the NDIS planning meetings and questions? How do we effectively interpret the meaning in the questions?
