ASLIA is hosting an online discussion group for New Zealand Sign Language Interpreters currently working in the broadcast media domain. Media conferences are now becoming more accessible with interpreters working during press conferences related to emergency events and the current COVID-19 pandemic. This forum is an invitation to interpreters from New Zealand currently working in this environment to share experiences and strategies, with Julie Judd and Daniel Hatley from Victoria, Australia.

Please register your attendance on the ASLIA website and you will be sent the online link to the Zoom platform. This is a free event.
