BIOGRAPHY

Zane Hema has been interpreting since 1994 and started his career in London initially supporting Deaf students in Education before going on to train as a BSL interpreter 1996/7 and 1998/2000. Since 2007 Zane has worked part-time as an Interpreter Teacher, teaching selected modules on both vocational and academic programmes and also has experience teaching on overseas programmes (US, Finland, Thailand, Panama) and in countries that do not yet have any formal training programmes (Gambia, Nepal, Singapore, Malaysia, Fiji, Papua New Guinea).

In 2012 Zane moved to live in Australia and in 2016 earned NAATI accreditation as a Professional interpreter. He continues to train and support the development of sign language interpreters around the world. He is currently a member of the ASLIAQ Committee, ASLIA, ASLI, SLIANZ, an efsl life member (2010) and an Honorary WASLI Life Member (2011).
